11.LITURGY OF THE HOURS & CANON LAW:

The Liturgy of the Hours (or Divine Office) is the Church's daily public prayer to sanctify the whole day. It is structured around specific hours, with Morning Prayer (Lauds) and Evening Prayer (Vespers) being the two principal hours.
Who is obliged: Clerics and members of Consecrate life are bound to pray it (Canon 1174 §1).

Who is invited: The lay faithful are "earnestly invited" to participate (Canon 1174 §2). This is a strong exhortation, not a legal obligation. The Church encourages the laity to take it up so it becomes the prayer of the whole People of God.

The New Office of Readings: First Update in Over 50 Years. The current English translation was produced in the 1970s. The new Liturgy of the Hours, Second Edition is the first major re translation in more than half a century, aimed at more accurately reflecting the original Latin texts.

Timeline for the U.S.

First Use: Ash Wednesday, February 10, 2027. The new translation may begin to be used on this date.
Mandatory Use: First Sunday of Advent, December 3, 2028.

The upcoming 2027 edition will provide a richer, more accurate translation of this ancient prayer for all who wish to participate. Contact Fr. Thomas if you are looking for New Office of Reading.
